Reasons for comment:	- Privacy Light and Noise
Comments:	My north-facing rear garden already receives restricted light. With a two-story side extension, a front and rear extension added to the recently constructed front and rear extensions will greatly restrict light, casting a massive shadow over the already light-restricted rear garden. I am not sure of the total increased footprint, but this is significantly large from the base house. My window on the side of the house will also receive less light. I am also worried about the effect this massive extension will have on the value of my property.

Kind regards
