Dear Dan,

I'm content the impact to the setting of Brook Farmhouse will be low. Although there will be change to the setting this will not be harmful in this case. There is separation and a mature tree line between the proposal site and the listed building. My only hesitation is in relation to the design of the dwellings. The proportions and detailing are reminiscent of suburban development. I am confident the design could be improved to better reflect the rural context.

Regards,
Seán
