Reasons for comment: - Other

Comments: I currently reside at the park next to the proposed development site. The site is already used for holiday lets and changing it to residential status would not, in my view, impact on the surroundings in any way.

It would however, provide more homes for retired people, in a safe, well looked after, secure environment and as a consequence of this, increase vacant properties at a time when housing stock is sorely needed.

Should the park become residential, occupants are likely to support the amenities in nearby Brooks Green, bringing revenue to the local area.

Furthermore, in my experience, Mr & Mrs Wenman, maintain their parks to a high standard and still keep an active involvement with residents. I consider myself very fortunate to have found such a place to live.

Kind regards
