Commenter Type:	Neighbour
Stance:	Customer objects to the Planning Application
Reasons for comment:	- Design - Highway Access and Parking - Overdevelopment
Comments:	I feel this contravenes the "householder application " as it changes the number of dwellings in a building from a single detached dwelling into a semi detached 4 bed house with single self contained 1 bed house attached , therefore making 2 dwellings from one building. Also There are only 2 parking spaces available on the property and both are occupied. If it is a self contained dwelling then where will any extra cars be parked as all the lay-bys are always full. The house is already a 4 bed home and if a bigger home is required then there are many in the area with larger parking areas which won't impact the neighbours at all.

Kind regards
