From this view it can be seen that the window in the first floor part of the porch will not be facing directly towards the front windows of the property opposite. Spruce field the window is not in habitable room and is over 21m away from any window within the property.

View showing rear elevation and relationship to adjacent properties. With Walled Cottage and Spruce Field.

This view from the front shows how the high garden walls will conceal the proposed extension from view. This view also shows where the link between the existing house and garage will not project past the existing front elevation. The existing porch can also be seen, the proposed new porch not projecting past the line of the existing steps.
