Comments:	I wish to object to the planned development on the above proposal. In short I believe the amount of dwellings being potentially built on

the plot of land will cause significant issues for the current residents and community in the area. Whilst I understand the developers desire to gain profits I question at who's cost. It strikes me those that will suffer greatly are the current residents of the vicinity.

As a very regular visitor to the development I find the roads extremely narrow and have on multiple occasions nearly had collisions due to the lack of adequate space.

I can only imagine issues the emergency services have when trying to navigate these already over populated roads. I presume the developers profits are more important than peoples health, safety or standard of living.

Parking around the proposed new development is already beyond a joke, it seems no provision has been made for the current residents/visitors, with an additional nearly 92 homes it is going to become even worse.

I would urge you to put people's lives above a companies profits

Yours sincerely

Matt Finch

Kind regards
