Reasons for comment:	- Design - Other
Comments:	I have known the applicant for a number of years through horses and being a livery of hers. She has always been very knowledgeable, and professional with the welfare of all hers and her clients animals paramount. With the history of trespassing, vandalism and even assault on her by a trespasser security at Limekiln has become a major issue for her even though there are neighbouring properties one being with in 100 meters where the crow flies, no one has witnessed these. All these can cause unnecessary stress for the animals as well, and should any become unwell or injured someone on site 24hrs is crucial for the rehabilitation and the breeding. She has kept the design with in the local plan and same style colouring as the stables, with view points around. She has thought about it through every angle and I support this 100% this is needed at limekiln and vital to the future running of the business and animal welfare
