Comments:	Ashington used to be a village and seems to be rapidly turning into a small town. There is enough traffic going through the village, from people using it as a "rat run". However many houses there are going to be, the number of cars will be doubled, as very few family homes have one car nowadays. Rectory Lane is already busy before any houses are even built.

As usual it is all about money and who can get the most by selling their field/land. Otherwise known as greed.
No thought for the wildlife losing their habitat.

Kind regards
