Reasons for comment: - Design

Comments: I completely support this proposal as it ticks all the 'eco' boxes. I have a 95 year old father, who would love to have been in a position to have the privilege of having such a dwelling. It would have given him the advantage of retaining his independence, instead of continually worrying about when and where his future care may be. The success of this project would set an example for the future of house building

Kind regards
