Dear Ms Chowdhury,

I gather there is some problem with the windows recently installed into the roof of Chewton, The Street, in Slinfold. The very same windows have been used in recent new-builds near the cricket pitch in the village as well, so it is hard to understand why the owners of Chewtons need to consider replacing the windows, which they have installed at great cost.. I am aware Chewton is a listed building, and in a conservation area, but as the windows in question can only be seen from the side and rear of the building, it seems unnecessary to insist they are changed. The new windows have been installed with great care, respecting the period of the property; they look very sleek and appropriate in the roof, and totally in keeping with other houses in the village where similar windows have been installed.

Please could you reconsider your point of view, and allow the house to continue with its restoration without delay.

Yours sincerely,
