Reasons for comment:	- Design - Other - Privacy Light and Noise
Comments:	Having looked at the plans we are concerned that this build will have a significant impact on us because the two storey element at the rear will really overshadow our house / garden. The height will block much of our light especially as it is our south facing aspect. The plan includes a juliette balcony at the rear which will overlook our garden and result in a significant loss of privacy. If the build was the other way round with the two story section and balcony at the front rather than the back this would be more acceptable. It just seems that this is an attempt to build something which is not really suitable given the size of the plot of land
