Description of Proposed Works

Please describe the proposed works

To install Hardie Plank VL cladding on 2 external walls, first floor only, over existing plain brick wall (LBC buff sand faced). No changes to existing tile hangings on other parts of the property. Affected walls are front and side elevation of a second storey extension constructed approx 40 years ago by previous owners.

Cladding will be the closest colour match to existing (ground floor walls), in Khaki Brown.

Side elevation cladding will cover 25mm celotex insulation, as this is a plain wall and there is sufficient eaves overhang to accommodate the overall thickness. Due to limited tile verge depth on gable of front elevation and depth of windowsill in first floor bedroom, we are unable to add additional insulation without considerable additional works and expense.

Biodiversity net gain

Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 sets out that every planning permission granted for the development of land in England shall be deemed to have been granted subject to the 'biodiversity gain condition' requiring development to achieve a net gain of 10% of biodiversity value.

This is subject to exemptions, an exemption applies in relation to planning permission for a development which is the subject of a householder application, within the meaning of article 2(1) of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order (2015)*.

Applicants for planning permission are required to make a statement as to whether they believe the biodiversity gain condition will apply if permission is granted, please confirm:

☒ It is my belief that if permission is granted for the development to which this application relates the biodiversity gain condition would not apply

*A 'householder application' means an application for planning permission for development for an existing dwellinghouse, or development within the curtilage of such a dwellinghouse for any purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse which is not an application for change of use or an application to change the number of dwellings in a building.

Details of the pre-application advice received

It is often possible to carry out alterations to a dwellinghouse without the need for planning permission through what are known as 'Permitted Development' rights. These rights are subject to a number of criteria / conditions which must be met in order for there to be no requirement for planning permission. A condition of Permitted Development is that:-

the materials used in any exterior work (other than materials used in the construction of a conservatory) must be of a similar appearance to those used in the construction of the exterior of the existing dwellinghouse

It is advised that the replacement of tile hanging with cement fibre boards would not meet the above condition, as they would not have a similar appearance to the exterior of the existing dwellinghouse. The replacement material would therefore require planning permission.

It is noted that there is existing variation in materials between properties in this location, and at this stage there are no concerns relating to the proposed change in material. It would therefore be recommended that a planning application be submitted to allow for public consultation and further consideration. If any issues arose as part of the application process it would be possible to discuss prior to any decision being finalised.

It should be noted that as stated previously in this application, we will not be replacing any existing tile hangings on the property. The new cladding is to be installed on plain brick faces (LBC buff). We have chosen a cladding colour that offers the least contrast to the existing brick colour of the 2 affected walls.

Note also that the property as originally built used 2 different brick types. The majority of the house is built from LBC tudors, with LBC buff sand faced bricks for the part where a second storey extension was constructed prior to our ownership.

Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.

Do any of the above statements apply?

- ☐ Yes
- ☒ No
