Dear Shazia,

I do think this is a disproportionate extension of the property which will impact the street scene to the extent of causing harm to the character of the conservation area. No.10A is comfortably proportioned in relation to its neighbours. The proposed extensions will result in the dwelling appearing squeezed onto its plot. The reliance on flat roofs especially conspicuous on the principal elevation also draw attention to function leading form. I suggest a more composite approach to the roof form to achieve the desired additional internal space. I also suggest incorporating a catslide roof over the garage to improve the relationship with no. 8.

I cannot support the current application due to the harm to the character of the conservation area.

Seán
