Good Morning

We have just received a letter ref the above for Forest View, Park Road, Faygate West Sussex saying a certificate has been received of Lawfulness for the Construction of a first floor addition-above an existing single storey detached property.

My question is has any provisions been put in place for the entry and exit because it's a shared drive.

I have included some pictures of the entrance to the bungalow's our concern is being able to access our property and use our garage, we did raise concerns about this at the beginning of this process by objecting to. Not one person has ever looked into the issue of access. How and where are the building materials going to be located???

Kind Regards
