North

Not to scale

A large limb snapped out on the Yew highlighted with the red border which has prompted the requested works. Works to the red boarder Yew would be to reduce the remaining stem to reduce the weight, then to reduce the adjacent Yew to blend in with it. Would also be giving the client a little assurance that some weight has been taken out.

The works would not be detrimental to the trees health, nor will it affect their amenity values