Reasons for comment:
Comments:	It's apt for Horsham town to have a memorial and to support the installation of an artwork honouring its famous son. The design itself is rather rigid and the leaves look odd in a straight line, rather than flowing and meandering naturally. Shelley was a great lover of nature, so he would probably appreciate it being changed to fit in better with the beautiful arrangements of plants in the Horsham park location! Thank you

Kind regards
