Reasons for comment:
Comments:	The application was considered. The Parish Council supports this application as it contributes positively to renewable energy generation and aligns with climate change mitigation objectives. The proposal is considered to have limited adverse impact on the character of the area, subject to careful installation on the existing barn roof, and is not expected to result in significant harm to residential amenity or the surrounding landscape. The Parish Council welcomes the use of existing rural buildings for low-carbon energy generation and considers this a sustainable and appropriate form of development in principle.

Kind regards
