Hi Luigi,

Not to worry.
We are aware of the 110 litres per person per day planning condition and thus is a requirement we are looking for to comply with building regulations.
From memory this was checked and I believe it was included in the water consumption calculation provided.

Feel free to forward this on to your planning officer so they are aware this is part of our requirement.

Kind regards,

HI Ross,

I was wondering whether you could do a last thing for me. I attach the planning conditions for this project. Condition 6 requires an action to be taken by Building Control. Can you please give a look and advise?

Many thanks,

Luigi
