Comments:	The proposed fitness studio would provide far more than just a place to exercise. Regular physical activity plays an important role in supporting both mental and physical health, and this studio would create a welcoming community environment that encourages wellbeing. Unlike a traditional gym where individuals often work out alone, the studio would focus on instructor-led classes that bring people together, promote social connection, and create a supportive atmosphere for people of all fitness levels. The change of use would therefore provide a valuable community benefit by improving access to health, wellbeing, and positive social interaction within the local area.

Kind regards
