Reasons for comment:	- Other
Comments:	I note from the other comments, that they object to condition 2 being removed. The 1st one complains about anything and everything he cannot see the lean too from his house. The second one lives approximately at least 3rds of a mile away from the site plus the only time they can see the lean too is in the winter, when there is no leaves on trees and hedge. Why are so many, people against this man who turns 90 this. As for the latest comment they on about country side being kept I do not think removing a condition counts. Just let the man have some peace in his life.

Kind regards
