Hi Tamara,

Trees have been re-consulted on this application, presumably on the basis of a tree constraints plan that has been scanned onto the file. Unfortunately this is only part of the design tool used to assess arboricultural impacts of development and is already contained within the submitted tree survey and report by Jonathon Rodwell that relates to holistic potential development of the site.

If the applicant is unclear as to what an Arboricultural Impact Assessment is, I recommend that he/she discusses my earlier consultation response directly with the project arboriculturist, Jonathon Rodwell to enable a submission that complies with the relevant design standard (BS5837: 2012 Trees in relation to design, demolition and construction – Recommendations) and broaches specifically the points that I raised in November.

Regards

Andy
