Reasons for comment:
Comments:	Both myself and my husband support this application and welcome the new design ideas that are being proposed. The application details a far more sympathetic and characterful proposal than the previous application and we hope that the design will use the opportunity to also incorporate a more sustainable material palette, maximising the use of natural materials and targeting the most energy efficient building that can be built. With a changing climate and hotter summers/wetter winters, there is an opportunity to design a building with features such as generous overhangs and reveals to prevent over heating and insulation that keeps the building both cool in summer and warm in winter which we are hopeful the new owners will strive for.

Kind regards
