Dear Nic,

The submitted information is not acceptable in this case. Ransoms is a prominent building in the conservation area and adjacent to a listed building. For this reason the quality of finish should reflect the desire to preserve or enhance the character of the area. Please ask that traditional clay tile or natural slate roof detailing is used. Interlocking synthetic roof tiles are not appropriate in this case. The windows on public facing elevations should be in timber to reflect the historic context of the site and the building design which seeks to reinforce the character of the conservation area.

Regards,
Seán
