To who this may concern,

I object to this planning application as it in no way address the issues that already exist in this area. If more houses are to be built then the speed of the road needs to be addressed. It's meant to be a 30mph zone but as I'm sure you are already aware that is rarely the case. If you add another junction with more vehicles it won't be a question of if there could be a fatal or serious accident but when. The speed cars go in this section of the A281 in Bucks Green is far higher than 30mph, that is for all hours of the day. Children walk this way to school or to the rec/little street/skate park ect. Everyday and it is beyond dangerous. I ask anybody who is part of this planning process and who is in the council to walk on the paths alongside the A281 with their own children and see how safe they think it is. It is near negligible of the council and Sussex police at this point that an average speed camera section has been suggested plenty of times, with evidence to back it, yet refused. To add houses designed with families in mind is hypocritical to say the least. If you would like to see how unsafe this section of road is, if you don't already have enough evidence and before you want to add more families to the mix feel free to contact me so you can join me on the school run.

Please do the right thing and put actual road safety measures in place to protect the families and residents that live in this village.
