Reasons for comment:
Comments:	As a paramedic who does dual role of emergency services and GP surgery work am shocked how this can even be considered. The nearest ambulance station to Ashington is Worthing, Gatwick and Tangmere. The new GP surgery is Storrington or Steyning. Because surgeries are so over subscribed people are not able to see a Dr in an appropriate time scale causing them to be left untreated and then requiring an emergency response. This in turn on a good day when demand is reduced means they won't get a response for at least 15/20 minutes, if they are in cardiac arrest, having a stroke or heart attack they are already on the back foot. Building more homes is putting people's life's at risk. It's inhumane

Kind regards
