Reasons for comment:
Comments:	As a Storrington business owner I have seen many changes to the High Street in Storrington. The footfall in our office has dramatically reduced over the years, firstly because of the internet and then exacerbated by changing habits during Covid. Many of these habits have now become the norm. People don't need to come to the village to shop as they can do it all online so it is important that we do anything we can to maintain energy and life in our village centre. In my opinion people visit Storrington more for leisure than necessity; to meet a friend for coffee perhaps but that means there is the chance they will support our independent shops by making a purchase.

The proposed mural showcasing the link to Knepp and the Stork project has the potential to become a real USP in our village, something visitors will enjoy and that children can learn about. The interpretation board will give people facts and information but the mural will be the thing that catches their eye in the first place making Storrington a more attractive and interesting destination.

Kind regards
