Biodiversity net gain

Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 sets out that every planning permission granted for the development of land in England shall be deemed to have been granted subject to the 'biodiversity gain condition' requiring development to achieve a net gain of 10% of biodiversity value.

This is subject to exemptions, an exemption applies in relation to planning permission for a development which is the subject of a householder application, within the meaning of article 2(1) of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order (2015)*.

Applicants for planning permission are required to make a statement as to whether they believe the biodiversity gain condition will apply if permission is granted, please confirm:

☒ It is my belief that if permission is granted for the development to which this application relates the biodiversity gain condition would not apply

*A 'householder application' means an application for planning permission for development for an existing dwellinghouse, or development within the curtilage of such a dwellinghouse for any purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse which is not an application for change of use or an application to change the number of dwellings in a building.

Character and appearance

Policies 32 and 33 of the HDPF seek to ensure that development promotes a high standard and quality of design in order to enhance and protect locally distinctive characters. The policies also seek to ensure that the scale, massing and appearance of development relates sympathetically with the built surroundings, landscape, open spaces and routes within and adjoining the site, including any impact on the skyline and important views.

The submitted plans outline a chalet bungalow which would be of a scale and form that would be in keeping with immediately surrounding development, and particularly the neighbouring property to the west. The proposed design would include elements, such as the front two-storey gabled projection and the rear barn-end, which would appear prominent features of the building. These elements would though primarily be seen against the backdrop of a building, which would be of an appropriate scale, and given the variation in built form in the immediate surroundings it is not considered any visual harm would arise from the proposed design approach.

It would though be recommended that the design of the rear dormer be revisited where there are some concerns relating to the proposed flat roof. A lower window cill (within the dormer) could allow the inclusion of a hipped roof which would better reflect the remainder of the building.

The scheme includes a metal roof which would not be particularly typical of the locality, including the nearby Conservation Area. It would be recommended that a specification of this roof material be submitted as part of any planning application, as without further detail it is unlikely a definitive view could be taken on the use of this material. If there are concerns regarding the use of a metal roof it would be possible to discuss further as part of any application. At this stage there are no concerns in respect of the materials indicated for lower levels of the building.

Impact on neighbouring amenity

Policy 33 of the HDPF also states that permission will be granted for development that does not cause unacceptable harm to the amenity of the occupiers/users of nearby properties and land. The siting of the extensions and the resulting relationship with site boundaries would not raise any concerns in respect of the impact on neighbouring properties and land. This would be revisited as part of an application should any concerns be raised during the consultation period. At this stage, there are no concerns or suggested amendments in respect of neighbouring amenity.

Conclusion

It is advised that the proposed scheme does not raise any fundamental concerns in respect of its impact on visual or neighbouring amenity, with recommendations made in respect of the detailing of the rear dormer and on the proposed roof materials.

Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.
