Stance: Customer objects to the Planning Application

Reasons for comment:

- Design
- Overdevelopment
- Privacy Light and Noise

Comments: I take note of the objection submitted by Brookfield Barn, a successful business and local employer which is located immediately adjacent to the proposed development. An increase in activity arising from the use of the yurts, beyond current permissions, will likely materially and negatively impact their business.

Given this site is outside of the built up area boundary, and given the apparent (very) infrequent use of the yurts, it would appear that the existing amenity block is proportionate and thus that the need for an increased footprint is unnecessary.
