Subject: Objection to DC/25/2114 - visual link from Sele Priory

Categories: Comments Received

Dear Mr Holmes,

I live at Sele Priory, and I am writing to inform you that we recently sought advice from a garden designer, who informed us that the row of trees we assumed were Leylandii are in fact likely to be Thuja Plicata cedars. She advised us that these trees were unusually top-heavy and old. For safety reasons, we are planning to significantly reduce them in height, and a few in the centre may have to be removed altogether.

With this in mind, this will open up the view between the northern heritage walk footpath up to Sele Priory and St Peter's church, both of which are listed buildings. My concern is that the proposed development is not in a position to know this, and should it go ahead, it will undoubtedly alter the visual link and historical setting of this ancient land.

Kind regards,
