Subject: RE: DC/26/0466 High Beech Farm Hammerpond Road Plummers Plain EH response

Hi Halima

The proposed barn is to be located close to the existing dwelling .

Livestock housing is not recommended to be located in close proximity to the residential properties due to the issues of odour, noise and flies associated with the keeping of livestock. I note the application is intended to replace an existing building but the photographs provided do not show this building to be currently used for livestock housing.

As long as the barn and adjoining dwelling remain in the same ownership the proposed development is unlikely to result in complaints . However should the house be sold separate to the use of the livestock barn then there will be a potential for impacts on the amenity of the future occupiers of the dwelling.

Please can the applicant provide further information on the arrangements for storage and removal of manure and soiled animal bedding.

Regards

Lee
