Hi Halima,
I visited Bottings Farmhouse with Sean Rixx yesterday - and took the photos below of the neighbouring properties for you.

View from the front of the property (north end) showing the neighbouring property to the left/east.

View from the west side of the house looking towards to next nearest neighbour in that direction which is the other side of the garden to the west.

Best wishes,
Jasmine

Thank you for your email below, I duly note your comments.

The reasons why photos of the neighbouring windows / doors are required is in order to assess any potential impact the proposed development would have on neighbour's residential amenity. I understand that the proposed dormer and rooflights would face the host dwelling's rear garden. Therefore, just photos of the immediate neighbouring properties taken from the host dwelling front and rear garden area would be sufficient.

I hope the above information answers your questions.

Dear Halima,

Jasmine is hopefully meeting Sean Rix on site on Thursday 24th so will be able to take photos.

Could you please advise why the photos of the neighbouring property, their windows and doors and what rooms these serve is relevant?

The neighbouring properties are of a different house type so any development would not be similar.

We are proposing dormers and rooflights externally which would have no impact on the neighbouring properties as these overlook the garden to the rear.

Kind regards,

Chelsey Bravery
