Comments:	As a Shelley Memorial Prizewinner for English Literature as a schoolgirl at Horsham High School, and currently a Professor of Art History of the University of London (with British Museum director Nicholas Cullinan and artist Jeremy Deller amongst my former students), I thoroughly support the project to honour Percy Bysshe Shelley with an appropriate monument in Horsham Park [REDACTED] The Shelley Memorial Project committee and members have been outstanding in their devotion to the poet's memory and the pressing need for commemoration, and imaginative in their fundraising enterprises reaching many different Horsham communities who will continue to be involved. Members have been punctilious in responding to the Council's request and deserve your full, warm and resounding support.

Kind regards
